One thing we are certainly not short of at the moment is news. News programme viewing figures and website visits are much higher than normal, as the UK looks for fresh information about the Coronavirus situation. Learn some journalist skills, by interviewing a family member and creating your own headlines about lockdown.

First, you'll need to interview a family member. Think about what questions you'd like to ask them. It might be about how they are coping with life in lockdown, how the situation has impacted their school/work life, what it has been like spending so much time together as a family etc.

Now write up or record your news article. If writing it up, you could create a newspaper's front cover with your headline and story. Alternatively record a news video which could be included as part of a TV news show.

Once completed, share a picture or video of your news article / video with your BB group or post on social media using #BBatHOME.
