MINEFIELD

PART OF THE TEAMWORK THEMED PROGRAMME

GETTING INTO THE ACTIVITY

Working as a team can you navigate a minefield, remember the solution and coach everyone through the course?

Set up: Create a large 8x8 grid. This could be done using tape, cones, markers or paper taped to the floor. A leader will need the minefield solution sheet.

How it works: Some of the squares have mines under them. One at a time make your way through the grid avoiding the mines. You can move one square at a time and in any direction. If you tread on a mine you must join the back of the line and the next person can go. Only one person can be on the minefield at any time, during which everyone else must be silent and cannot help. (Help & advice can be given to your team before they start each attempt). Only the leader will know where all the mines are and will let you know when you have hit a mine. All team members must navigate the mine successful to finish. This activity encourages teamwork, communication and problem-solving.

Virtual: Screenshare the blank grid and use the annotate function to show the route. Clear the screen between each attempt.
