FIND THE QUEEN'S GUARD

▶▶ GETTING INTO THE ACTIVITY

Use your observation skills to find the Queen's Guard hidden amongst a crowd of people. Link with The Queen's official birthday and Trooping the Colour (12th June 2021).

The Queen's Guard are famous for their scarlet tunics and black bearskins (hats), so they should be easy to spot right? Let's find out with this challenging game of 'Find the Queen's Guard'.

Download the 'Find the Queen's Guard' PowerPoint and share it via screenshare (virtual) or on a projector (face-to-face). Each slide has a large group of people. Somewhere in that crowd is a Queen's Guard hiding. Challenge the group to find the hidden guard each time. To give everyone a chance to find the guard, ask children to raise their hand when they find it. Once everyone has found the guard, ask someone to point them out on the screen. As the game goes on, the pictures get harder. Pick and choose which pictures to use with your group, depending on their age and ability.

Take it Further: If meeting face-to-face, print off some copies of the 'Queen's Guard Activity Sheet' and cut out the images of the guards. Hide them around your meeting space and challenge the group to find as many as they can, either individually or in teams. The person / team who find the most win.
